The screenshot shows a login form titled "Log In Example" with a subtitle "Apr 2, 2020 9:05 AM - Apr 2, 2020 10:05 PM". Below the title is a paragraph: "The display name and email address captured on this form are used to provide access to the webcast and to uniquely identify you in webcast reporting. Additional information may be collected for use by the host." There are two input fields: the first is labeled "John Smith" and has a person icon; the second is labeled "Email" and has an envelope icon. Below the fields is a checkbox with the text "I consent to the capture of my display name, email address and other information requested or required by the host of this webcast." To the right of the checkbox is a red asterisk. At the bottom right is a button labeled "Sign in as guest". At the bottom left is the text "Already a registered user? Sign in here".

- Enter your email address in the "Email" field.

The screenshot shows the same login form as above, but now the "Email" field is filled with "johnsmith@gmail.com". The "Display Name" field still contains "John Smith". The rest of the form, including the consent checkbox and the "Sign in as guest" button, remains the same.
